Hamilton Robinson Capital Partners Celebrates Manufacturing Day 2015

October 2, 2015 is Manufacturing Day in the U.S....and we've got a lot to celebrate! The recent Boston Consulting Group Global Manufacturing Cost-Competitiveness Index ranks the U.S. as one of two rising global manufacturing stars, based on labor costs, sustained productivity gains, stable exchange rates, and a big energy-cost advantage. Many of the world's leading manufacturing firms are turning or returning to the U.S. because of the unique economic advantages the U.S. offers. Take a look at Ford's first day on their newest production line of F-650/F-750 trucks in Avon Lake, Ohio. Watch the ribbon cutting ceremony for Airbus' newest A320 airliner assembly plant in Mobile, Alabama.

So together, let's take two steps - first, let's change the conversation regarding the growing importance and strength of our manufacturing sector, it has a new and extraordinary story to tell. A recent Brookings Institution report titled America's Advanced Industries finds that 35 of 50 advanced industries are manufacturing (12 were service, 3 energy) clearly pointing out the central, leading role manufacturing plays in our economy.

And second, let's convert this conversation into action. Behind all the stories regarding these leading global manufacturers are the unpublished stories of thousands of middle market manufacturers whose technologies, innovative processes, commitment to local markets, jobs and day-to-day grit, form the unsung, absolutely essential underpinning of our manufacturing economy. This is where we work, bringing financial, strategic, managerial and information resources that enable these companies to grow and reach their full potential. And it's here where, together, we can make a difference.

Let's celebrate Manufacturing Day 2015 by doing something truly American, let's find the right manufacturing companies that are ready to go to the next level, and are looking for the right partners to get them there. Let's celebrate Manufacturing Day 2015 by doing business!

We're ready... are you?
